FOR CLIENTS:

Louis is the second of three generations of the D'Amanda family to practice law at ChamberlainD'Amanda. Today, he serves as a mentor to the firm's young trial attorneys.

Much of his work involved insurance defense litigation. He also worked on estate litigation matters.

FOR THE PROFESSION:

In 1987, Louis was elected a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, the most prestigious honor that can be bestowed on a trial lawyer. He is also a member of:

- Monroe County Bar Association
- New York State Bar Association
- The Rochester American Inn of Court (President, 1994-95)
- AV rated by Martindale Hubbell™

FOR OUR COMMUNITY:

Louis serves on the Board of Governors of the Genesee Valley Hunt, and as a director of the Genesee Valley Conservancy.

EDUCATION:

Louis graduated from Wesleyan University in 1951 and studied at Harvard Business School. He graduated from Cornell University Law School in 1961, and joined the firm after his admission to the bar in 1962.
